Population Decline and the Remaking of Great Power Politics

By Susan Yoshihara, Douglas A. Sylva, Nicholas Eberstadt

Potomac Books Inc. Hardback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Population Decline and the Remaking of Great Power Politics, Susan Yoshihara, Douglas A. Sylva, Nicholas Eberstadt, Remarkably, most conventional wisdom about the shifting balance of world power virtually ignores one of the most fundamental components of power: population. The studies that do consider international security and demographic trends almost unanimously focus on population growth as a liability. In contrast, the distinguished contributors to this volume - security experts from the Naval War College, American Enterprise Institute, and other think tanks - contend that demographic decline in key world powers now poses a profound challenge to global stability. The countries at greatest risk are in the developed world, where birthrates are falling and populations are aging. Many have already lost significant human capital, capital that would have helped them innovate and fuel their economy, man their armed forces, and secure a place at the table of world power. By examining the effects of diverging population trends between the United States and Europe and the effects of rapid population aging in Japan, India, and China, this book uncovers increasing tensions within the trans-Atlantic alliance and destabilizing trends in Asian security. Thus relative demographic...
